The first promotional BRI Student Videos are up on BRI's YouTube Channel!

Greetings!

We're so pleased to announce this milestone for BRI! Thanks to our ability to have several students together at the FMMA Conference in Oklahoma City last month, we took advantage of that gathering to get some awesome footage for two BRI promotional videos. These are just the first of many planned videos, all designed to make communicating about Benjamin Rush Institute simpler and easier.

We have been wanting to produce excellent videos highlighting what we're about, why medical students think BRI is a worthwhile organization, and what we're trying to accomplish. We think we've made a good start towards that goal.

Please take a few minutes to watch these videos and share them on your social media sites! Also, please send us your feedback! We also like any helpful suggestions to improve our message.

We wish each of you a hopeful, healthy and happy Thanksgiving!

Student Leaders contribute to the first two promotional BRI videos

Smeet Bhimani (Rowan), John Grimsley and John Karalis (Georgetown), Kristy Hawley (George Washington University), Morgan Kohls (Ohio University), Nic Miller (Ohio State University), and Jared Rhoads (Dartmouth) shared their insights as part of the first two BRI promotional videos. Speaking from the heart, they underscored why BRI's values, work and vision is worth their precious time and efforts. Preserving the doctor-patient relationship in a healthcare system based on freedom of choice, minimum regulation and limited government interference is what makes BRI unique among student-led organizations.

We are so proud of our Student Leaders and members. Thanks for all you do!
