

Healthcare policy videos do make interesting summer education!

Greetings!

July 11, 2016

Looking for some entertaining and educational summer videos? BRI's April leadership conference featured many renowned physicians, policy experts, authors, economists, and students. All of the professional presentations we enjoyed throughout the conference are now uploaded to BRI's website. We invite you to watch these videos as frequently as you like and share them with your communities.

Keynote: Fighting for People, Arthur C. Brooks, president, AEI

Equal is UNfair: America's misguided fight against income inequality, by Don Watkins

Physician advocates at the state level, by Meg Edison, MD

Why BRI supports a free market approach to healthcare policy, by Jules Madrigal-Dersch, MD

Healthcare and Poverty, by Robert Doar

Death of Eros: The real crisis in medicine, by Venu Julapalli, MD

The chronically homeless: Who they are and how to help them, by Sally Satel and Kevin Corinith

Health policy and hospital care for marginalized groups, by Benedic N. Ippolito

Strengthening Medicaid to protect protect the most vulnerable, by Joshua Trent

How to achieve sustainable Medicaid reform, by Thomas P. Miller, JD

Medicine as a career: Why do we do it?, Richard Armstrong, MD

How to talk to those who don't share your views

Daniel Milyavsky of Stony Brook Medical School steps up again, this time sharing his experiences in learning how to overcome his own biases and be able to have meaningful dialogue with those who don't share a common viewpoint.

Read Daniel's article.

BRI-affiliated medical students frequently find themselves in situations either defending, describing, or promoting free market, freedom-oriented healthcare policies to those who favor increased government intervention. It's a good idea to learn as much as you can about how to be successful in doing this. One great conversation can have ripple effects beyond your imagining!

We know that summer is a time for catching up with friends and family, and relishing vacations. For you medical students it could mean internships, studying perhaps, and the all-important R&R to be ready for fall's rigor! We wish you a glorious summer and hope that you are as excited for the 2016-2017 academic year as we are!

Best regards always,

Beth Haynes, MD

Donations &
Membership

IT'S A GREAT TIME TO JOIN BRI.

We're revamping our renewal structure.
We think you'll like it!

Historically, BRI memberships ran yearly through August 31st. We are now switching to a system where memberships will expire 365 days from initiation. So, for example, if you are inspired to become a member on the day you receive this newsletter, your membership would expire in one year on that day - instead of on August 31, 2016 as in our old system.

This new system will be retroactive through August 31st, 2016. If you renewed any time last year after 8/31/2016, we will ask you to renew with us again by your anniversary date. If you'd like to switch your anniversary date, just let us know, or renew now! We will gladly update your record.

We will send out reminders in plenty of time to renew your membership before it expires the following year. We appreciate your patience as we improve BRI's systems to keep pace with our growth.
